H.C. of L.

Is the result of many causes, but if the first dollar out of America's pay envelopes were to go into savings instead of into more or less unnecessary articles, production would soon reach a high level, and prices would tend automatically to drop.

More than ever must thrift and economy be practiced. As during war-time, wasteful habits must be overcome.

Let there be concerted action! Begin this week. The dollar saved will open a savings account and draw three per cent interest at

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, soap should be used very carefully it you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkaii. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mui-

The best thing for steady use is Muisified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greazeless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two tenspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it fn. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and exceasive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and casy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months, adv.

TODAY'S AID TO BEAUTY

Hair is by far the most conspicuous thing about us and is probably the most easily damaged by bad or careless treatment. If we are very careful in hair washing we will have virtually no hair troubles. An especially fine shampor for this weather, one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair; that dissolves and entirely removes all danders and entirely removes all danders. all the natural beauty of the hair; that dissolves and entirely removes all dandurft; can easily be used at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox (which you can get at any druggist's) in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid—enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. This chemically dissolves all impurities and creates a soothing, cooling lather. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotiessly clean, soft and pliant while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After a canthrox shampoo, arranging the hair is a pleasure.

The California senator declared that President Wilson had abandoned one by one his original 14 points until "we saw good intentions surrendered to sinister Old World diplomacy and the American people held a sad intellectual inquest over a dead hope."

He declared that every great nation had exacted its price for the league of nations and that America paid for acceptance of the league in the surrender of our principles and the barter of the peoples and territories and then guaranteed the awful toll taken for all time.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The defeat of the peace treaty, with or without reservations, was predicted here last night by Senator James A. Reed at a dinner given in honor of himself and Senator Hiram Johnson, by a committee of New York business men.

Senator Johnson declared that the Ledge reservations, while not wholly protecting the United States, did give a measure of protection and that they were the "irreducible minimum" on which no compropise could be made.

"The irreducible minimum of protection to our country," said Senator Johnson, "must sharply and absolutely mark the line. The necessity of this protection is now generally conceded; that it is the least that should be done is admitted."

mitted. "Compromise of the protection thus "compromise of the protection thus essential leaves our country and its institutions menaced and imperiled. Compromise with an irreducible minimum is abject surrender. The United States senate, not only for the maintenance of its own dignity and its high purpose, but because of its lofty patriotism, can permit no substantial modifications or alterations of the measure of protection it has demanded and won for the republic."

anteed the awful toll taken for all time.

Labor Menace.

Senator Johnson asserted that "the menace of the league" was scarcely less than "the menace of the labor provisions" in the peace treaty.

"I beg you to remember," he said, "that not only has Great Britain six times the representation and six times the voting power of the United States under the league, but the treaty in the tremendously important labor conference, Britain has 24 representatives, United States four.

"Unlimited powers apparently are granted to the conference and in this conference American labor, the most conservative there is in the world, has four votes out of 128.

"The highest standards of labor are those in our country. The best paid labor is here. Ours is the only labor group which has expressed opposition to Bolshevism. Radicalism in its worst form permeates European labor. The labor conference under the treaty will not Americanize European labor. The fear is that they might Bolshevize American labor. We have our domestic problems pressing and acute in these trying times. All of the wisdom and statesmanship we have are required now for our own. And while we never will selfishly refuse to do our part in the world and perform our obligations to humanity and civilization, it is our right, indeed our highest duty, first to be Americans."

Senator Reed declared that formal peace could be secured by the passage of the Knox resolution, which calls for ratification of the peace treaty with the elimination of the league covenant. He said that a great clamor was being raised in this country on the ground that the league of nations must be accepted in order to restore trade with Germany.

"To that there are two conclusive answers," he continued. "First, Germany, hungering for food, in distress for machinery and raw materials, has all along been anxious to buy everything we will offer her. Second, we have in fact been for months trading with Germany, the trade being limited alone by the artificial restrictions imposed by our government and th
